Dear Friends and Colleagues,

You are cordially invited to participate in the forthcoming XII. International Midsummer Meeting in Pediatric Hematology, Oncology and Stem Cell Transplantation taking place in 2020 in Broumov / Czech Republic.

The symposium aims at the exchange of experience and knowledge as well as promotion of friendship between physicians and other medical staff from several European countries. During the meeting well-established and new achievements in pediatric onco-hematological diagnosis and therapy will be presented and discussed, having an impact on the curability of malignancies, transplantation, non-malignant hematology, late effects, etc.

We highly encourage you to inform also your colleagues and to promote their participation in this meeting known for its outstanding scientific and social atmosphere. We would be delighted to meet many of the participants from the previous meetings again but also to get into contact with as many new young pediatric hematologist and oncologist working in the clinic or in the laboratory.

Please mark your calendars for the longest days and shortest nights of the year (Midsummer!) to be filled with fruitful scientific exchange and an incendiary atmosphere of entertaining social events. Looking forward to meet you this time in Broumov.

In the name of the Organizing Committee
